

Galgotias University Law School develops pioneering multi-disciplinary approach

Galgotias University School of Law is the first law school to provide interdisciplinary legal education to its students with a focus on policy and law-making in India. International teaching pedagogies and deep interdisciplinary curricula are designed and taught by the finest faculty drawn from universities in the USA, Europe, Korea and India provide extensive exposure to students.

Galgotias University School of Law offers relevant majors for B.A., besides Honours, such as a B.A. in Economics or Political Science. This pedagogical change importantly allows students to specialise in a B.A. which orients them strongly in another related discipline which they can then bring to bear on the practice of law. This strong B.A. program enables greater cross-fertilisation of ideas among the faculty and student body of the law school, thereby furthering a common research agenda.

Galgotias University School of Law has a richly varied clinical curriculum, with at least three or four clinics that the students can choose from. The school also proffers a robust English proficiency program and superbly teaches a diverse range of law subjects, as well as the entire gamut of non-law topics that are central to any interdisciplinary B.A. LL.B. education. Students, PunjabColleges.com, members are encouraged to play leading roles in public discourse and policy formation. This pioneering B.A. program allows Galgotias University School Of Law to position itself uniquely within the Indian academic space.
